ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the present invention comprise systems and methods for 5   providing load-balancing in cluster printing environments.   Embodiments may operate in conjunction with journalled print files, pre-processed, printer-ready print files and other file types. Some embodiments provide load-balanced cluster printing through a printer-independent, driver-independent print system component.

10